What is F.L.I.P.? F.L.I.P., which stands for Female Legal & Investigative Professionals, is an elite group of Female Licensed Private Investigators who collaborate with each other – and Law Enforcement – to solve previously unsolved crimes Nationwide.

What Have They Done? In the premiere episode of “F.L.I.P. Mysteries: Women on the Case” which will be shown Friday August 15, 2008 at 10pm | 9c on the WE Channel, the F.L.I.P. team identifies the victim of a Baltimore, Maryland homicide from details on a shirt found at the crime scene. The victim had gone unidentified for years, but F.L.I.P. breathed new life into the investigation, prompting the Baltimore Police to renew its efforts to solve what was now clearly a homicide. Most importantly, a family was finally able to put its beloved mother, sister and daughter to rest.

From there the team moves on to Quincy, Massachusetts (Boston area) to begin work on a “ticking clock” case. FLIP must quickly locate and identify the obviously disturbed individual responsible for making graphic kidnap threats against young children and leaving terrifying notes on the porches of their homes. The F.L.I.P. team responded to this imminent threat with a handwriting expert, internet researchers, and seasoned investigators, who were able to catch the stalker just hours before he was planning to make good on his threats.

Who are the members of F.L.I.P.? In the premiere episode, we meet Michele Dawn, Rancho Attorney Service (California) aka "RASCAL" as well as other members of the team including Vicki Siedow, Siedow & Associates Investigations and FLIP Coordinator (Glendale, CA), Anne LaJeunesse (Manhattan Beach, CA) Tina Elkins and Lori Wilkins (Georgia), and Peggy Walla of LPR Investigations(Texas).
