Jan. 8, 2009 - PRLog -- Conscious Sedation Consulting has received approval for continuing education credits from the Kansas Dental Board for its Conscious Sedation Certification Course. This course is being held nationally and is designed for providers who offer patients sedation and analgesia services in an out patient care setting.

As the number of out patient procedures continue to grow in the United States each year, the demand for easy access to quality training, continuing education, accreditation and certification for sedation providers also increases. Physicians and dentists are realizing that the addition of sedation and analgesia services can greatly enhance their practices offerings by appealing to a greater patient population. Which has been demonstrated in the explosive growth of “sleep dentistry” or “dental sedation” practices. As well as in the substantial increases in the field of gastroenterology where steep rises in the number of endoscopic procedures are performed in office.

In an effort to meet this sudden increased demand for quality, evidence based didactic training and education, a live continuing educational event on the administration of enteral and parenteral conscious sedation is being hosted nationally. This class is for physicians, dentists, podiatrists, nurses, hygienists and respiratory therapists involved in the administration of sedation and analgesia services in an out patient care setting. This entire “sedation team” approach has proven beneficial in fostering communication and co-operation between health-care providers who offer patients sedation services.

This is a comprehensive in depth didactic training class developed by a physician with 25 years experience as a board certified anesthesiologist. This course has been developed in accordance with core principles described in national accrediting organization standards and specialty society guidelines and covers all aspects of enteral and parenteral conscious (moderate) sedation and analgesia.

These events are hosted by Conscious Sedation Consulting of St. Louis MO. The first few stops of the national 2009 educational event series is Jan. 31 in Kansas City MO., Feb. 28 Indianapolis IN, Mar. 28 Phoenix AZ.
