

Printing Services Companies in New York City and NY Custom Printers Join BTB Business Network

New York City commercial printing companies and custom printers have been happily joining the new BTBbids.com business Network, as it expands into their industry and home turf.

Jan. 23, 2009 - PRLog -- Nearly an entire year in the making, the BTBbids.com Business Network is making a name for itself in the marketing and advertising fields. Designed for the simple purpose of making connections between commercial businesses that offer goods / services and the end-user consumers that are looking for those goods / services.

"Ease of use and getting quick and accurate results are the most important factors consumers care about when using a business network, especially in the printing services and commercial printers industries," says BTBbids.com co-founder Kyle Yoder.

Entering the New York City printing and commercial printers market, was a move that was well-researched and planned out far in advance of the actual expansion. "We understand that cracking into the NY City (specifically Brooklyn and the Bronx) printing marketing industry was going to be key to dominating our industry... and we are VERY pleased with the initial results, as are our various printing industry clients," continued Mr. Yoder.

The BTBbids.com Business Network has extended an open invitation to companies across the United States to meet and discuss business partnerships for the purpose of planning new and exciting money-generating solutions in the new year.
