

FREE Bakugan Party Ideas!

Want to throw a Bakugan Brawlers bash and need some help getting started? Look no further!

June 30, 2009 - PRLog -- Decorations: Make a Bakugan Character Wall. This will be a wonderful conversation piece for the guests and will also look great as decoration. Choose at least 10 Bakugan and download their enlarged images right from bakugan.com- the official website. Print out as large as possible using coloured ink. Using details found online or right on their card, write out each biography. Their health, powers, their weaknesses etc. on a separate sheet of paper in a large print. What you should end up with is 10(or so) large coloured photos and 10 corresponding bios. Display all pictures with bios beside or underneath on one central wall. Use licensed Bakugan party decorations and coordinating yellow, red and black balloons and streamers to accent the Character wall and make it the focal point of the party room. Themed posters and toys would also be a great addition to the party room.

Games: Bakugan Launch - Test you launching skills. Every Brawler must have accuracy and skill to open and activate their Bakugan. On a flat surface place 4 cards about 2 inches apart. About 5 feet back, mark a launch line with a piece of masking tape. If you have plenty of Bakugan, place them in a bag and have each child randomly pick one from the bag as it becomes their turn. You can also request that each child bring their favourite Bakugan to the party. The Birthday child should always go first! Each child gets 3 launches. If you can get your bakugan to open, you advance to the next round. If not, your sent to the Doom Dimension. Keep going until there is only 1 Ultimate Brawler left! Bakugan Ball Toss - This is a fun challenge, and a challenging it is! Use 6 of those super bouncy balls. Set up a series of 6 pails or boxes of some sort. It is your choice whether to have them horizontally, diagonally, in 2 rows of 3 or clustered together. Whichever you choose, just make sure the pails are close together, about 2-3 centimetres apart. Purchase some Bakugan trading cards, enough for each guest to win 2 or 3 each. Mark a line about 5 feet back. Line the bottom of each pail with 1 trading card-make sure they are face down so the players cannot see them. With the birthday child going first, have him attempt to land the balls into the buckets. The balls must land in the bucket and not bounce out! When all 6 balls are thrown, the player may then collect his winning cards from the buckets where he landed the balls. Finding out which cards they won will be very exciting! Replace the cards, gather the balls and have the next child in line have a go! Keep playing until the cards run out or everyone has their equal share. Its not as easy as you might think! This may take 2 or 3 rounds - those balls are hard to tame!

Bakugan Pinata: Since they have not come out with any Bakugan themed Pinata lets make our own. A really simple way is to purchase a round beach ball pinata or even a sports ball shaped pinata and spray paint it to match your child's favourite Bakugan Ball. Another option is to make your own. To do this you can paper mache a beach ball. Make sure to cover the beach ball with a thin coat of Vaseline so it is easy to separate and remove. Another option is to use a punch balloon. That way, you have a built in hanger with the elastic handle - just make sure to blow the punch ball up until its completely round. The key is to use several layers of newspaper and glue to make the pinata very sturdy and give yourself several days of drying time. A good glue ratio is 1 part water to 3 parts white glue. The newspaper strips should be about 2 inches wide and about 9 inches long. When the ball is absolutely dry, use an exacto knife and cut a flap about 4 inches x 4 inches. Just enough room to pull out the beach ball or pop the balloon. Paint and decorate your Pinata , fill with candy and treats and reseal.

Activities: "Are You Smarter then a Battle Brawler?" Play a Trivia game based on the both the cartoon series and the card game. Prepare 5 questions ranking from easiest to hardest for each quiz player. Write the set of 5 questions on individual index cards and have the players choose their own set of questions out of a hat. Each question should get progressively a little harder so inform the players that they can stop at any time. Questions like "Who is Green?", "Who has Wings?" and "Who has Pink Hair?". Everyone gets a prize for playing of course, but the prizes you can win with each question gets progressively a little better too! If you get an answer correct you advance, if you get it wrong you loose it all! Well, maybe not all, have a basic prize that everyone wins with question 1. Make sure to offer 3 possible answers to help the kids and gear the difficulty of the questions to the age group attending.
