

Linen hand towels Becoming Great Alternatives For Paper Towels

Paper towels have been widely used today because of their eco-friendliness. The real fact is that these paper towels are not actually being eco-friendly.

July 13, 2009 - PRLog -- Mosilor, The use of the paper towels have greatly increased through the last decade. One of the main reasons for the increase in usage of the paper towels is that they are completely bio-degradable. Moreover, these paper towels are the best suited ones for the use and throw applications. There is a big question about the advantages of using the paper towels. Are the really beneficial in many ways? Let's ask the professionals of handtowels101.com. "People have a great misconception that they are being friendly to the environment by the use of the paper towels. They actually aren't. Remember the fact that the paper towels are made by killing countless numbers of trees. The deforestation has already done considerable damage to the environment. It is high time to minimize the use of paper wherever it is possible. This is where the need to alternatives such as the linen hand towels come into play. The linen hand towels are perfect alternatives as they are eco-friendly, economical and 100% recyclable" says Andrea Stoica of handtowels101.com.

Speaking on more details about the linen hand towels, Andrea Stoica said, "The linen hand towels are slowly gaining popularity worldwide. It is a true fact that they are made from synthetic materials. However, they are totally recyclable. Now you may have a thought that paper towels can also be recycled. Though the paper towels can be recycled, they will carry many infections even after recycling. The linen hand towels on the other hand will be completely germ free as they can be subjected to germ killing treatments. Moreover, we don't want to kill trees anymore. Do we?"

Speaking on the move, Andrea Stoica said, "For thousands of years we have destroying the trees. Now we are making them to extinction. So it is high time to start using the linen hand towels. The linen hand towels can be more attractive than the paper towels. The decorative hand towels will last longer and also can be reused if necessary. Stop killing trees and promote the use of these decorative hand towels."
