July 30, 2009 - PRLog -- For the best inflatable party rental company on the east coast, there's only one name you need to remember: Monkey Joes To Go. Monkey Joes To Go offers some of the most entertaining and economical inflatable party rentals you can your family can enjoy at your next backyard gathering.

Here at Monkey Joes To Go, we rent out three different types of slides that you and your entire family can enjoy together. First of all, we have dry slides that are a favorite rental option all throughout the year in the Orlando area. No matter what the weather may hold in store, these slides are easy to use and will be sheer delight for all of your party guests. We also offer inflatable wet slides for rent. These slides are understandably the most popular to use during the hot and humid summer months in Florida. Nothing will cool you and your kids down like a refreshing ride down one of our wet slides. For the most fun and enjoyment, you should check out our inflatable slide and bounce house combos. Two of our most popular inflatable rentals—the bounce house and the slide—are now combined in one fun rental option. Now you don't have to make the tough choice between whether to get a slide or a bounce house. You can have them both at the same time in order to give your family, friends, and guests the greatest sense of enjoyment possible at your party.

In addition to being fun for all of your guests, each one of our slides is exceptionally safe for children of virtually any age. Because the slides are inflatable, it's very unlikely that accidents or serious injury will occur to your kids. The slides also have inflatable side rails, so there will be very little chance of your children slipping over the edge, even on the wet slides. The majority of our slides also come with an inflatable safety wall at the bottom. This means that just in case your child starts going a little too fast down the slide, he or she won't fly off of it at the end. Instead, they'll hit the soft, inflatable blockade without receiving so much as a scratch. This is an especially important safety feature for our wet slides, all of which comes with a safety wall at the bottom. And with the option to have both a slide and a bounce house in one fun-filled, combination inflatable rental, your kids won't get bored, either. They will be safe and entertained throughout your entire party.

Besides our great inflatable slide rentals, Monkey Joes To Go also rents out the basic necessities you'll likely need to make your party a success. These necessities include tables, chairs, and popup tents for the convenience of your guests. In addition to the basic necessities, we also rent our fun extras, such as inflatable movie screens complete with projectors and stereo sound options. We can even provide popcorn stands, cotton candy makers, snow cone machines, and duck ponds as well. These concessions, along with Monkey Joes To Go Orlando inflatable water slide rentals ( <http://www.monkeyjoestogo.com> ), will make any humdrum party into a memorable success.
