

Diviene Offers Aquamarine Jewelry For March Celebrants

Diviene offers aquamarine jewelry for March celebrants. They come in unique designs and can even be customized to bring out the personality of the wearer. They are set in silver or gold in order to cater to different budgets.

March 9, 2010 - PRLog -- Giving unique aquamarine jewelry is now a breeze thanks to Diviene's wide selection online. From ready-made designs to customizable jewelry, Diviene has something for all tastes. They are set in either sterling silver or gold, thus letting people from different budgets give precious pieces of jewelry featuring the aquamarine gemstone.

Rings, pendants, earrings, and necklaces now sport aquamarine, which is the birthstone for the month of March. It has an interesting etymology, as it traces its roots to two Latin words, aqua which means water, and mare which means sea. Its mesmerizing light blue hue has symbolic attributes. These are trust, harmony, friendship, and sympathy. Historically, aquamarine is believed to protect sailors from the perils of the sea. Having the gemstone on board was like having a talisman that appeases the ocean's temperament. Today, it is known to be a calming gemstone. Blue has also been scientifically proven to inspire creativity.

The customized aquamarine jewelry section of Diviene is perfect for wearers who have unique tastes and specifications. Mother rings celebrate the birthstone of a child, while promise rings and engagement rings are always better if they represent the taste of the wearer. These rings can be customized using the different design options at Diviene. As for the bracelets and pendants, the size of the aquamarine stone and the kind of links used can be specified according to the wearer's liking.
