March 24, 2008 - PRLog -- Tony Honda, one of the leading certified Honda dealers in Hawaii, announces the availability of 2008 Honda Ridgeline at its dealership. As a unique entrant in the half-ton pickup truck segment, the mid-sized Honda Ridgeline provides a number of innovative and industry-exclusive features with its 8.5 cubic-foot In-Bed Trunk, a smooth and responsive four-wheel independent suspension and standard safety equipment that includes side-curtain airbags and Vehicle Stability Assist (VSA).

For 2008, a new wheel design with "machined styling" appears on the Ridgeline RTS and RTL, and the fabric interiors on the Ridgeline RT, RTX and RTS change from dual-tone styling to a contemporary single tone style.

The four-door, five-passenger Ridgeline is built on a closed-box unit-body frame that combines the strength characteristics of a ladder frame with the handling and packaging advantages of a unit-body design. Powertrain highlights include a 247-horsepower 3.5-liter VTEC V-6 engine, a 5-speed electronically-controlled automatic transmission and a Variable Torque Management 4-wheel drive system (VTM-4) - all as standard equipment. Maximum towing capacity is rated at 5,000 pounds when properly equipped, and all Ridgelines are ready-to-tow with the addition of an available accessory trailer hitch (standard on the Ridgeline RTX).
