Dec. 15, 2008 - PRLog -- 1928 Jewelry- <http://www.1928.com> - launches an online fashion accessories video series inspired by the vintage jewelry collections it creates.

To compliment the launch of it's new vintage fashion blog and website, <http://www.jewelrygalblog.com>, the 1928 Jewelry Marketing Director Macala Wright created a six part video series that includes a show case the company's winter and spring collections, an exclusive interview with David Alverson, Vice President of Product Development and the man behind all 1928 Jewelry collections for the past 40 years and a segment on "Discovering Vintage Hollywood Style in Los Angeles".

In a fabulous collaboration, 1928.com and JewelryGalBlog.com partner with the Lindsay Lou Boutique of Scottsdale, Arizona, to bring you incredible, one-of-a-kind video shoot and fashion photography series that pays homage to vintage Hollywood glamour.

The necklaces, bracelets and earrings represent every decade, from the 1920s to the 1970s. The 1928 collections offer fashion forward, yet budget conscious, women an alternative to high-priced costume jewelry without sacrificing quality or style.

For over 40 years, the 1928 Jewelry Company has created vintage inspired costume, trend, fashion and antique jewelry for women worldwide. The 1928 Brand has sought to provide exceptional value to the fashion savvy consumer who is dedicated to building her vintage jewelry collection with unique accessories. The jewelry in the 1928 collections are designed to respect the details of period pieces while offering fresh design interpretations to fit today's styles and fashions.
