"This is the best time we've seen in over 30 years to buy a beach house on the North Carolina coast," said Desiree. "Interest rates are at the lowest point ever, prices are down, and inventory is up in all of our local beach communities. We've recently helped several clients purchase beachfront foreclosure and short sale properties for about half off the original asking price, and there are many more deals like those out there waiting to be made. If you're in a position to buy, I encourage you to sign up now for an updated NC Beach Bargains list and consider taking advantage of some of these opportunities before they disappear."

An Exclusive Buyer's Representative for WilmingtonForSale.com, Desiree helps her clients find deals on beachfront foreclosures and short sale listings in the coastal communities of the lower Cape Fear region of southeastern North Carolina.
