PONCHA SPRINGS, Colo. October 30, 2009- After working with Circle Y Saddles (<http://circley.com>) for over a year to design saddles with the characteristics and qualities she demands, internationally-respected natural horsemanship trainer Julie Goodnight introduces five saddles in her Peak Performance line. The saddles are marked with Goodnight's "jumping over the moon" logo and each allows for a close-contact feel, and has stirrups twisted to hang naturally in line with your leg, and has a flexible tree for your horse's comfort. The saddles also boast a narrow twist and padded seat for comfort for you. You'll find a selection of wooden tree and Flex2® trees (known for their comfort and light weight). You'll also find a specially designed saddle pad and tack to match each saddle. The saddles are available through Goodnight's website at <http://shop.juliegoodnight.com/shop/tackcircley.html>, can be seen in her online catalog: <http://www.juliegoodnight.com/images/2009catalog.pdf>, and are available from your favorite Circle Y dealers.

"Whether you're looking for a working-cow horse saddle or a saddle that's comfortable enough to trail ride in each day, I trust that you'll find the right fit within my signature line," Goodnight says. "It was important for me to offer saddles that place the rider in the proper position while allowing for horse and rider comfort. I personally ride in the Rocky Mountain High Performance saddle when working cattle or participating in versatility classes. And you'll see me ride in the Monarch Arena Performance/Trail at all of my clinics and expos. The other saddles have the same feel, but offer choices in skirting and riggings to match the kind of riding you do most."

The Details:

Rocky Mountain High Performance (model #1470)

With a Kevlar reinforced wooden tree, this saddle has many high-performance features for the most demanding rider expecting the best from the horse. This all-around ranch saddle can be used for cutting, working cowhorse, roping and other western disciplines. It has a close-contact design for superior use of your aids, a narrow twist for your comfort and a rough-out skirt and fenders for better stick.

Monarch Arena Performance/Trail (model #1752)

This is Goodnight's favorite saddle for every-day use; the Flex2 tree saddle has many special features designed by Goodnight to make your ride comfortable for both you and your horse while maintaining a high performance quality. For the rider who works both in the arena and on the trail, this saddle is the perfect multi-use saddle. With a narrow twist, extra padded seat and close-contact feel, you'll never want to sit in another saddle. The highly adjustable rigging means this saddle will fit just about any horse securely and comfortably.

Wind River Trail (model #1750)

A Flex2 tree and rounded skirt makes this saddle ideal for serious trail riders who want comfort but still want to ride correctly and get the most out of their horse. With many of the features of the Monarch, this saddle is designed with the trail rider in mind—it's lightweight (with a rounded skirt) and comfortable for the rider.

Blue Ridge Gaited Trail (model #1751)

With the same great design features of the Wind River Trail saddle, this saddle has a tree that is specially engineered to meet the unique needs of the gaited breeds while still offering the same great comfort and features of the rest of the entire Goodnight line.

Sierra Nevada Arena Performance (model #1560)

With a Flex2 tree for superior fit and comfort, this saddle is designed with the performance rider in mind. For horsemanship, pleasure and reining, this saddle will put you in the right spot and help you ride correctly to get the best performance from your horse.
