About Tata Housing

Tata Housing Development Company established in 1984 is a subsidiary of Tata Sons, the holding company of the Tata Group. The company was the first private sector organisation to enter the real estate and mass-housing sector in India and has come to be recognised for its quality and reliable construction, ethical and transparent business practices, use of environment-friendly construction materials and extensive research-led engineering projects. Tata Housing is based in Mumbai, India, with regional offices in Delhi, Bangalore and Kolkata. Tata Housing's core activity is the development of homes, offices, integrated townships and retail destinations. Since its inception, it has constructed many residential and commercial complexes in various Indian cities. The company offers project planning and management services, as also the design and execution of IT parks and healthcare facilities. It also provides business development, financial and legal services, marketing and sales services, and township and estate management services.
