

La-Tea-Da! To Host a "Low Tea and High Heels" Book Signing

La-Tea-Da! Tea Room and Parlour to host a book signing for Shoe-Blogger-Turned-Author Felicia Coley

Jan. 6, 2010 - PRLog -- A book signing for "How To Stylishly Fall From Grace" will take place Sunday, January 24, 2010 from 3PM-5PM at La-Tea-Da! Tea Room and Parlour. The tea room, located at 258 Alexander Street in Rochester, NY, is hosting the signing for Author Felicia Coley. A percentage from every book sold will benefit UNIFEM's "Say NO - UNiTE To End Violence Against Women Campaign", an initiative of the women's fund of the U.N.

The book is a fictional memoir of a young woman who heeds the warning signs of a pre-abusive boyfriend. Her journey takes her from thriving in the city that never sleeps, to barely surviving in a sleepy city obsessed with naps.

Book customers will enjoy complimentary tea and scones while enjoying the ambience of the tea room and parlour. Set in a lavender Victorian house, La-Tea-Da! is a magical and whimsical experience for the first-time visitor. Free parking for customers is located across the street on Alexander.

"Whether for a mother, BFF or shoe enthusiast, the book is the perfect Valentines Day gift for the woman in your life," says Coley. "Instead of the expected gifts of flowers, chocolates and cards, How to Stylishly Fall from Grace <http://www.amazon.com/How-Stylishly-Fall-Grace-Perfectly-...> is a gift that gives 'heeling' power to women dealing with domestic violence."
