

Callaway Big Bertha Diablo Irons 2010---The First Class Golf Clubs

Premium forged irons featuring contemporary styling and design elements for the elite player.

March 12, 2010 - PRLog -- Premium forged irons featuring contemporary styling and design elements for the elite player.

The new premium forged irons from Callaway Golf that offer the finest quality, craftsmanship and feel for the most discriminating golfers. Designed for players seeking a traditionally styled club with enhanced playability and performance, these irons feature a soft 1020 carbon steel body, a high-strength Carpenter Steel face. This combination provides outstanding distance with increased accuracy and distance control over typical forged irons with unparalleled levels of feel.

455 CARPENTER STEEL FACE

This lighter and stronger steel provides increased ball speed off the clubface for more distance while also allowing weight to be moved to the perimeter and lower into the sole for better accuracy and trajectory control than typical forged clubs.

FORGED 1020 CARBON STEEL BODY

Provides unmatched feel and performance, giving elite-level golfers incredibly soft, responsive feedback at impact.

TOUR-INSPIRED STYLING

With a thin topline, narrow sole, shorter blade length and minimal offset, these irons deliver the aesthetics, feel and shot-shaping ability elite players demand.

I purchased a new set of Big Bertha irons in October and have to say that I love them. Not one complaint. Got the Diablo #3 hybrid at Christmas and yet again, very satisfied to say the least. Just recieved my most recent Callaway product, Big Bertha Diablo Draw Driver, and just got back from driving hitting 200 balls at the range and I must say with complete honesty that I am finally hitting a DRIVER like a seasoned player. I can draw, fade and hit the ball straight by just minor changes off neutral one way or the other. I can't say thank you enough for this product. Nor can I not stop telling my friends about this, just like all the Callaway products I purchased. You have a loyal customer for life.

This is the first quality driver that I have ever purchased.

Teed off with a 3 wood last year as I was fighting a sever slice. I thought shorter and in play was better than longer and unplayable. I would like to say that a flawed swing can make any club slice (as I can attest), even clubs with a "draw" bias.

This driver, when you connect on the sweet spot, the ball really goes a long way, and straight (draw bias). Off centre hits still go a long way. You don't have to be perfect every time. Very forgiving.

May not be as explosively long as the TM Burner, but is perhaps more consistent.

Definitely worth the money as they have been reduce at most of the major golf stores.

My advice, take a lesson from a golf pro. They can see right away swing flaws, and suggest sure fire cures, instead of wingin' it on your own.

This club will not "cure" a severe swing flaw, only lessons and practice can accomplish that. But someone with a milder case of the fades, this draw biased club will definitely help.
The Diablo will be money well spent.

It is indeed a better way to have the golf clubs with a lower price and better control. At the web site <http://www.mygolfwholesale.com> they supply with customers golf clubs of golf wholesale method.
